

目标60

In November 2010, Wang finished his trip of exploration in China and went to Changsha as promised. After two months of preparation, Wang officially opened his franchise office in Furong district, Changsha, in January 2011. After one year of effort and assistance, Yang successfully improved her teaching environment and internal management. Currently there are more than 100 students in Changsha institute.

Wang and Yang were having a pleasant cooperation, so gradually they reached agreement in operation. They usually help each other and conduct an exchange of teaching resources to promote marketing together, thus Changsha's institute has improved significantly.

Establish agent office in Fuzhou

Fuzhou, also named Rongcheng, is located in the east of Fujian province near downstream of Minjiang river. On the east is the Taiwan Strait. Fuzhou is capital of Fujian, and also the center of politics, economy, and culture. Fuzhou is the biggest city of Fujian with population of 680 million people and a long history of more than 2000 years.

Fujian Province in 2004 first proposed the strategic vision of the "West Coast Economic Zone," immediately received the response of the Chinese State Council with full support. The program was based on Fujian covering the southern part of Zhejiang, northern part of Guangdong, part of Jiangxi, connecting with two economic zones of Pearl River Delta and Yangtze River Delta.

With Taiwan, Hong Kong and Macao nearby, Fuzhou has superior investment on geo-economy expected to reach 17,000 billion dollars after the zone has completed construction. Fuzhou is just in the centre of the plan with leading position, thus responsible for the important task of coordination.

The business of CMA in Xiamen has been opened since April 2009, and is growing stably. The institute not only trained many excellent students in abacus mental arithmetic, but also many outstanding teachers, and Chen Maosen was one of them. Chen comes from Sanming city, Fujian, having helped his parents in their small store since he was young, he was familiar with business operation.

In September 2003, Chen went to college in Beijing and graduated in 2007. He then worked in a financial company. After half year, he was introduced into a property insurance company. Until 2008, he went back to Fujian.

In January 2009, Chen started to work in an accountant company in Xiamen Special Economic Zone. He then had the chance to know Tai Chiang Ching. At that time, Chen went to Industry Bureau at Siming District in Xiamen for business and met Tai. Tai was there for business consultation.

When Chen Maosen first met Tai, Tai was in the bureau registering a company. He then talked with Tai and told him the procedures and related information on how to register a company. Tai was very thankful for Chen's help, and befriended him. Tai therefore agreed to entrust Chen Maosen to take charge of accounting affairs in CMA, Xiamen.