On the same day, even though I was busy at work, I still thought about my son who was going to leave at 3 pm. I left work to go home at 2 pm to bid him farewell. However, after I got home, my wife told me he had already left earlier at 1:20 pm. I was so disappointed.

After Weicheng left, I started to think about his behaviour during the days he stayed home. “Why didn’t he buy the book I asked him to buy, and why didn’t he explain the reason why?” “Why didn’t Weicheng say anything to me when he was leaving?” “I feel so distant with my son.” “Is there any problem with the way I’ve raised my children?” “Why didn’t he learn any basic etiquette?”

Father’s emotion

After Weicheng left for college in China, I continued to wait for his e-mail every day. However, I didn’t receive any after quite a long time. I then wrote down this article, the “Story of the father and the son,” to express my emotions. I hope my son can understand how I miss him as a father one day.

The way to keep a good marriage

Tai Chiang Ching and his wife, Hsu Hsiuyun, established their enterprise together at age of 20s from scratch. They not only accompanied and helped each other as husband and wife, they were also actively involved in various kinds of charity events.

Besides serving as a judge in numerous kinds of national exams and competitions for abacus mental arithmetic, earning first place as a superior coach many times, he was also involved in many social charity events and participated in local social groups.

In the early years, Hsu was busy with housework and took care of the children, so she stopped seeking for higher education. The communication between Hsu and Tai was once on the brink of a crisis. On an occasion, Tai reminded her, “You kept repeating the same content while talking without mentioning the important points.” Hsu understood after hearing the words. She started to go out and participate in social groups, enrolled herself in self-development classes, and enhanced her knowledge through reading.

Hsu joined Youth Commerce Association and became the director after learning for six years. She was under 30 years old at that time. She was also helping out in the schools. However, she didn't teach children abacus mental arithmetic, instead, she taught them Chinese phrases. She looked for materials and taught them different fields of knowledge. She also volunteered as a librarian also and served as "lunch supervisor" for their daughter's school, to check the quality of school lunch.

She also served as a volunteer in the Health Center in school. When Chen-rong was a fifth grader, Hsu served as the director of the Parents and Teachers Association. After leaving the position of director of Parents and Teachers Association, she participated in Nan Ying Lions Club and served as the secretary. She also joined many other charity activities.

People often asked her and Tai Chiang Ching if they ever feel lonely since their kids have grown up. Hsu smiled and answered, "My husband and I are all very busy at work and social groups. My husband also needs to fly abroad for business trip. How do we feel lonely? We feel that we don't have enough time on our hands."

Mr. and Mrs. Tai together established their career and participated in charity activities, but they wouldn't forget to maintain their relationship. Sometimes when Hsu was cooking in the kitchen, Tai would hug her from the back. This made Hsu feel he is very sweet and believe it's worth to do everything for his family.
